-Intercultural competence 이걸 키우기 위한 3가지 태도

What we need to develop is a generalized intercultural competence-skills and habits of thought which will enhance our handling of any and all intercultural communication situations. Examples of such skills and habits of thought would include:

1. Minimization of ethnocentrism- learning not to assume that people of other cultures make the same assumptions we make about the world

딱딱한 그거를 붙힘 -> 편견 선입견 붙힘

일반화 시키는 것.

2. Minimization of stereotyping- learning to be cautious about basing broad generalizations (especially negative ones) about other peoples and cultures on individual incidents or isolated bits of information.

편견을 줄여나가자 , base a on b 기본을 on에 다둔다 조심스럽게

3. Caution in interpretation and evaluation- learning not to jump to conclusions (especially negative ones) about what people of other cultures mean when they do or say things that seem puzzling or even threatening to us.

Snow, D. (2003). Intercultural competence in English classes: A brief reflection. TESOL Intercultural Communications E-Section, 2(2).